Utility Type: all

Company Name: Virginia Power

Comments: Undergrounding utility lines would be very positive, particularly in denser, more urban areas -- not just for aesthetic improvement but for safety and reliability as well. Developers have paid for undergrounding in new site plan developments throughout the County and have found the cost to do so to be SIGNIFICANTLY less than the costs stated by Virginia Power. Whatever payment method is used in older residential communities (not subject to significant new development), please make sure citizen costs reflect the ACTUAL cost of the work.
